EXPLANATORY NOTES

Market Value and Volume of Sales on Registered and Exempted Securities Exchanges

The data presented in this table are of two types depending upon the method of aggregation used by each exchange. Reports of those exchanges marked with an asterisk cover transactions cleared during the calendar month; clearances occur for the most part within five days of the execution of a trade. Reports for other exchanges cover transactions effected on trade dates falling within the report month. The variance introduced by these two different methods of aggregating the data is not considered to be significant and accordingly all registered exchanges are aggregated and reported in monthly summaries.

Stock data include voting trust certificates, certificates of deposit for stocks and American Depositary Receipts for stocks.

Bond data have excluded transactions covering United States Government issues since March 1944.

Warrants data include trading in rights for all periods prior to January, 1972.

EXPLANATORY NOTES FOR OFFERINGS TABLES

1971 TO PRESENT 1/

The data included in the Commission's statistical series on securities offerings are a sample of the universe of all securities offered in the United States. This sample includes all primary security issues registered with the Commission for immediate cash sale to the public pursuant to the requirements of the Securities Act of 1933 or Regulation A of that Act. The sample also includes information collected by the Commission on certain private placements as described below. Excluded from the offerings data are all offerings not greater than $100,000; all debt securities with terms of less than one year; all secondary offerings; all non-cash offerings; issues withdrawn after effective registration; issues not defined as securities under Section 2(1) of the Securities Act of 1933; offerings--both public and private--by issuers whose securities are exempted under Sections 3(a)(2)-3(a)(6) and Section 3(a)(11) of the Securities Act of 1933 2/; all employee stock plans; investment company issues other than closed-end shares 3/; intracorporate securities transactions; and sales to foreign purchasers.

The source of data for registered offerings is the registration statement filed with the Commission by the issuer of the securities. (Registration data and offering data are not directly comparable because, beyond the exclusions noted above, the registration date and the offering date may fall in two different monthly or yearly periods.) Data on private placements are collected by a Commission survey of 39 life insurance companies on a monthly basis and 9 more on a quarterly or semi-annual basis, and by reports of private placements filed on the Commission's Form 8-K. Life insurance companies surveyed by the Commission had assets on December 31, 1972, of $190,145 million, or 79% of all life insurance company assets. Only those private placement commitments which are actually executed are included in the statistics. No representation is made that the private placement activity of the life insurance companies surveyed approximates private placement activity as a whole in the United States.

The offerings tables make a distinction between Corporate Offerings and Foreign Government Offerings. It should be noted that Corporate Offerings include issues by non-corporate business enterprises such as limited partnerships, and that the Foreign Government classification includes foreign government issues of all levels, foreign government agencies, and foreign government-owned enterprises.

The industry classification used in the offerings tables should be self-explanatory for the most part. It should be emphasized that the Communication group includes telephone utilities. In the period 1971-73, 98% of the dollar value of the registered issues in this category was accounted for by telephone utilities. The Commercial and Other industry group is comprised of agriculture, construction, wholesale and retail trade, and all service activities other than financial services.

The security types used in the offerings tables are Bonds, Preferred Stock and Common Stock. The Bonds group includes convertible bonds, which are detailed on a special table. The Preferred Stock group includes convertible preferred stock; however, in the period 1971-73 registered convertible preferred stock accounted for less than 15% of the value of all registered preferred stock. The Common Stock category includes common shares issued by closed-end investment companies (preferred shares are included in Preferred Stock), as well as securities issued by non-corporate business such as certificates of participation and shares of beneficial interest, and other equity securities such as voting trust certificates and certificates of deposit. American Depository Receipts are not included in the offerings statistics.

- 1/ Explanatory notes applicable to the offerings data prior to 1971 may be found in Volume 33, pages 45 and 46, of the Statistical Bulletin. The major difference between the pre- and post-1971 data is that until 1971 the securities cited in footnote 2 were included in the offerings statistics.
  - 2/ 3(a)(2) exempts domestic government* issues and bank issues,
 3(a)(3) exempts securities arising out of current transactions with a maturity not exceeding 9 months,
 3(a)(4) exempts securities issued by non-profit and/or charitable groups,
 3(a)(5) exempts issues by savings and loan associations,
 3(a)(6) exempts issues by companies regulated by the ICC, and

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Registrations

Data cover all registrations which became effective under the Securities Act of 1933 during the period covered. Issues are included as of the effective date, with the exception of those subject to post-effective amendment to report terms of offering. These are included as of the date of the post-effective amendment.

The classification primary corporate offerings refer to registered offerings for immediate cash sale where the proceeds of the offering are at the disposal of the issuing corporations. Secondary offerings are registrations of outstanding securities where the proceeds of the issue do not accrue to the issuing company. The dollar amount for both type offerings is based generally on the initial offering price. The classification unseasoned common stock includes initial offerings by companies registering common stock for the first time under the Securities Act of 1933, whereas seasoned common stock offerings are registrations by companies previously having securities registered under the 1933 Act. Other equity securities classification consists of offerings of certificates of participation or beneficial interests, warrants or options, voting trust certificates and other equity securities.

Issues to be offered for extended cash sale include investment company issues, and all offerings of employee savings and stock option plans. The classification foreign government is shown separately, whereas registrations by foreign corporations are included in with corporate offerings. Investment company securities include open-end, face-amount and unit trust offerings. Closed-end securities are included in primary corporate offerings.

Issues registered for other noncash purposes such as exchange transactions, securities given for property or services, or reserved for conversion are generally valued at the current market prices.

In order to eliminate double counting, the number of issues are shown for primary and secondary offerings only. However, effective registrations cover all cash offerings, noncash offerings, and offerings for extended cash sale.

Dollar amounts have been rounded and will not add to totals.

NOTES: The term "members" includes all regular and associate Exchange members, and member firms, general, special and limited partners in member firms, and voting and non-voting stockholders in member corporations. All odd-lot transactions are handled by specialists, and their round-lot purchases and sales for odd-lot account are not segregated from their other round-lot transactions. In odd-lot transactions, customers' purchases are specialists' sales and customers' sales are specialists' purchases. All sales totals include short sales, all figures include warrants.

Figures are rounded and do not necessarily add to totals.

NOTES: The term "members" includes all regular and associate Exchange members, and member firms, general, special and limited partners in member firms, and voting and non-voting stockholders in member corporations. All odd-lot transactions are handled by specialists, and their round-lot purchases and sales for odd-lot account are not segregated from their other round-lot transactions. In odd-lot transactions, customers' purchases are specialists' sales and customers' sales are specialists' purchases. All sales totals include short sales. All figures include warrants.

* Reports of those exchanges marked with an asterisk cover transactions cleared during the calendar month; clearances occur for the most part on the fifth day after that on which the trade actually was effected. Reports for other exchanges cover transactions effected on trade dates of calendar month.

1/ Data on the value and volume of securities sales are reported in connection with fees paid under Section 31 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. They include all securities sales effected on exchanges except sales of bonds of the United States Government which are not subject to the fee. The data cover odd-lot as well as round-lot transactions.

2/ Includes voting trust certificates, certificates of deposit for stocks, and American Depositary Receipts for stocks, but excludes rights and warrants.

3/ Excludes U.S. Government Bonds.

COST OF FLOTATION OF REGISTERED SECURITIES OFFERINGS: 1971-72

A study of "Cost of Flotation of Registered Securities Offerings: 1971-72" is available through the U. S. Government Printing Office at a cost of $1.45. It is in many ways similar to the last such report whose coverage included the years 1963-through 1965. Costs covered are those strictly associated with the transmittal of funds from ultimate investors to issuers and include both compensation or the underwriting spread and other expenses of issuance such as SEC filing fees, state taxes, attorney's fees, et cetera. Non-cash compensation in the form of warrants or options is also covered; although as a practical matter, strict valuation of the pecuniary consequence of these arrangements is impossible.

Issues offered to the general public by corporate issuers as well as those being sold by existing shareholders and offered through privileged subscription are included in this study. One distinction drawn in the study is between issues offered through securities dealers and those sold directly by the issuing corporation.

The data base incorporates nearly 96 percent of the $69.1 billion worth of offerings effectively registered for immediate cash sale during 1971 and 1972. Common stock and non-convertible debt offerings with gross proceeds of almost $59 billion accounted for the great bulk of these registrations. Coverage of these issues was approximately 98.5 percent. The remaining security types included within the survey were preferred stock, limited partnership issues and convertible debentures.

Some findings of the study are:

Of the five general classes of securities covered which were offered through securities dealers, limited partnership issues were brought to public market with the highest percentage spreads--averaging 7.96 percent of gross proceeds. Common stock underwriting spreads were only slightly lower at 7.90 percent; however, when differences between common stock issues with respect to whether they were rights offerings or offerings to the general public were taken into account, common stock offerings to the general public commanded the highest percentage spreads, averaging 8.4 percent of gross proceeds. Non-convertible debt issues were sold at spreads which averaged 1.14 percent of gross proceeds--the lowest spread on any of the five security types analyzed. Preferred stock spreads were the next lowest in magnitude, averaging 1.52 percent, followed by convertible debentures which averaged 3.2 percent of gross proceeds.

The differences in percentage spreads across security types are explained to some extent by the nature of the security. Debt issues and preferred stock issues should be expected to command lower percentage spreads than common stock issues, if for no other reason than the fact that they are denominated in larger increments for sale and therefore distribution costs in underwriting should be lower. This is verified by the fact that when the effects of scale and qualitative factors were accounted for, it continued to remain generally true that the rankings by percentage spread outlined above obtained.

I. Common Stock Offerings - The survey covered a total of 1599 primary and mixed primary and secondary stocks offered to the general public through securities dealers with gross proceeds of $13.4 billion during the 1971-1972 period. Spreads ranged from a high of 13.24 percent on issues with gross proceeds of less than $500 thousand to a low of 3.03 percent on issues with gross proceeds of between $100 and $500 million. Other expenses of issuance as a percent of gross proceeds ranged from a high of 10.35 percent to a low of .16 percent. Thus, total expenses of issuance were nearly 25 percent of gross proceeds on the typical offering of less than $500 thousand. While a certain amount of the variation in percentage spreads is explained by the effects of economies of scale in underwriting and distribution, the close relationship between size of issue and such qualitative factors as asset size and presence or absence of a pre-existing market obscures any precise measurement of scale effects. For example, of the 43 issues with gross proceeds of less than $500 thousand, 86 percent of the issuers had corporate assets of less than $1 million and 90 percent had no pre-existing trading market. Larger issues, on the other hand, were concentrated in the larger asset size groupings and invariably had pre-existing trading markets. Of the 42 common stock offerings to the general public with gross proceeds of over $50 million, 86 percent had corporate assets of over $100 million and 90 percent had pre-existing trading markets. In addition nearly 55 percent of issuers bringing larger issues to market were public utilities whose issues normally sell at lower spreads.

A. Distinctions were also made between common stock offerings sold for the benefit of the corporate issuer and those sold for the benefit of existing securities holders. Though over-all spreads were lower on pure secondary offerings (5.97 percent) than on pure primary offerings (9.39 percent), when differences between offering size, asset size and industry of issuer were accounted for, there was little difference between costs of flotation strictly attributable to the nature of the offeror.

B. Because of the historically low incidence of issues offered through privileged subscription during the period studied, no meaningful findings exist regarding differences in flotation costs between these issues and those offered to the general public. Though for the 41 rights offerings through securities dealers percentage spreads were lower (4.34 percent) than on offerings to the general public (8.41 percent), the infrequency of rights offerings precluded an analysis of whether differences were attributable to such factors as asset size or industry of issuing corporation or to the nature of the offering itself.

C. Nearly all of the direct offerings were either common stock or limited partnership issues. Approximately one-half of the 50 direct offerings of common stock surveyed involved some form of compensation for company employees and others engaged in sale and distribution. Rates of compensation ranged from a high of 14 percent to a low of 4.9 percent, but bore no relationship to the size of issue nor to such qualitative factors as asset size or industry of issuer. Other expenses of issuance did bear an inverse relationship to offering size, ranging from 7.12 percent for issues between $500 thousand and $1 million to 1.27 percent on issues in the $5 to $10 million issue size category.

II. Preferred Stock - There were 150 preferred stock issues offered in the 1971-1972 period with gross proceeds of $4.4 billion. Spreads ranged from a high of 8.26 percent of gross proceeds on issues in the $1 to $2 million size category to 1.35 percent on issues with gross proceeds of between $50 and $100 million. Though an inverse relationship between percentage spreads and issue size existed, it was not nearly so strong as for common stock offerings. Other expenses of issuance ranged from a high of 3.48 percent to a low of .18 percent on issues of between $1 and $50 million in size. Aside from the fact that preferred stock is denominated in larger units than common stock, the principal factor which appears to explain differences in costs of flotation between preferred and common stock offerings is the fact that virtually all preferred stock issues sold during the period studied were public utility issues.

III. Limited partnership Issues - There were 251 public offerings of limited partnership issues during the 1971-1972 period aggregating $4.9 billion. These issues were nearly always offered by companies in the extractive, Commercial and Other, and Finance and Real Estate sectors. Direct offerings, which accounted for over one-half of such issues, were most heavily concentrated in the Extractive and Commercial and Other industries. Offerings through securities dealers were concentrated in the Finance and Real Estate sector.

A. Spreads on issues offered through securities dealers ranged from 8.16 percent on issues concentrated within the $1 million to $2 million size category to 5.5 percent on issues with gross proceeds of between $50 and $100 million. Other expenses of issuance ranged between 2.93 percent of gross proceeds for the smallest to .40 percent of gross proceeds for the largest issues.

B. Compensation was present in some form on 100 of the 135 directly offered limited partnership issues and ranged from a high of 9.49 percent on issues of between $500 thousand and $1 million in size to a low of 5 percent on issues with gross proceeds of between $50 and $100 million. Other expenses ranged from 3.57 percent on the smallest limited partnership issues to .24 percent on the largest.

IV. Non-convertible Debentures - There were 659 non-convertible debt issues in 1971-1972 with gross proceeds totaling $33.5 billion. Gross proceeds from the typical non-convertible debt issue averaged slightly over $50 million--nearly five times larger than proceeds from the typical common stock offering. Non-convertible debt issues were floated at percentage spreads which were between two and seven percentage points lower than those on similarly sized common stock issues.

A. Spreads ranged from a high of 12.95 percent on debt issues within the $1 to $2 million size category to a low of .88 percent on issues with gross proceeds exceeding $500 million. Other expenses of issuance ranged from 4 percent to a low of .07 percent of gross proceeds. Unlike common stock offerings there was little variation in debt issues with respect to issue or asset size. A large majority of debt issues were concentrated within the $20 million and over issue sizes where the effects of scale economies on spreads are not particularly strong, and over 90 percent of firms seeking external debt financing had assets of over $100 million. Because of this homogeneity in issue and asset size, percentage spreads on straight debt issues did not vary nearly as much as they did on common stock offerings.

B. Public Utility and Communication bond offerings were sold at spreads which were typically less than one percent of gross proceeds while issues in other industries sold at spreads which ranged from 1.08 to 1.62 percent.

C. For debt offerings, issues were classified by both the coupon rate of interest and quality rating in order to determine whether these factors influenced percentage spreads to any appreciable extent. While a relationship appeared to exist between coupon rates, quality rating and spreads; it was not possible to determine their influence because of their high correlation with size of issue. For example, issues with coupon rates of between 7.0 and 7.5 percent were brought to market with spreads which averaged .93 percent while issues with coupon rates of interest of 9 percent and over sold at spreads which averaged 3.48 percent. However, issues in the former coupon rate category were concentrated in offering size classes of $20 million and over while those in the latter coupon rate category were generally smaller in size.

V. Convertible Debentures - The 147 convertible debentures offered in the 1971-1972 period had gross proceeds of $4.6 billion. Average gross proceeds of $31.2 million was smaller than the average sized non-convertible debt issue but considerably larger than the gross proceeds from the typical common stock offering. Both percentage spreads and other expenses of issuance varied inversely with size of issue. Spreads ranged from a high of 14.6 percent on the smallest issue to a low of 1.17 percent on larger issues while other expense varied between 10.74 and .23 percent. Convertible debentures were concentrated almost exclusively within the Manufacturing, Finance and Real Estate, and Commercial and Other industry sectors.

VI. Extra Compensation - Extra compensation in the form of warrants or options on registered common stock offerings was analyzed with respect to its incidence and terms in order to determine whether these characteristics are related to the same scale and qualitative factors which influence cash forms of compensation.

A. Out of a total of 1599 mixed primary and secondary common stocks offered to the general public, nearly one-third had associated extra compensation. Over 95 percent of the issues brought to market with extra compensation did not exceed $5 million in size and almost 90 percent had no pre-existing market. This tends to indicate that presence or absence of extra compensation is related to issue quality and may also be related to some extent to the effects of scale.

B. Exercise prices averaged 11.72 percent above offering prices on the 530 issues with extra compensation. While scale and qualitative factors appear to influence whether or not an issue will be brought to public market with extras, their effect on exercise premiums is somewhat questionable. there were few instances where exercise premiums increased in a systematic manner with offering size or were directly related to the magnitude of the qualitative factors studied.

C. For those issues which involved extra compensation, the ratio of shares exercisable to shares publicly offered averaged 7.99 percent. There was a fairly strong inverse relationship between this ratio and offering size with ratios averaging nearly 9 percent on the smallest issues and about 3.5 percent on the largest sized issues. The ratio of shares exercisable to shares offered appeared to be inversely related to both offering price and asset size of issuer but was unrelated to presence or absence of a pre-existing market. No substantial differences in the ratio existed among industries.
